THE MEMPHIS DAILY APPEAL.

BY ALBERT PIKE & CO. MEMPHIS, TENN., MONDAY, JULY 20, 1868. VOL. XVIII.—NO. 309

MEMPHIS APPEAL.

FOR PRESIDENT,

HORATIO SEYMOUR,

OF NEW YORK.

FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,

FRANK P. BLAIR,

OF MISSOURI.

THE PLATFORM.

The Democratic party, in National Convention assembled, reposing its trust in the intelligence, patriotism and discriminating justice of the people; standing upon the Constitution as the foundation and limitation of the powers of the Government, and the guarantee of the liberties of the citizen; and recognizing the questions of slavery and secession as having been settled for all time to come by the war or the voluntary action of the Southern states in Constitutional Conventions assembled, and never to be renewed or reagitated; do, with the return of peace, demand,

1. Immediate restoration of all the States to their rights in the Union under the Constitution and civil government of the American people.

2. Amnesty for all past political offenses, and the regulation of the elective franchise in the States by their citizens, and the payment of the public debt of the United States as rapidly as practicable.

3. All money drawn from the people by taxation, except so much as is requisite for the necessities of the Government, economically administered, should be honestly applied to such payment, and where the obligations of the Government do not expressly state upon their face, or the law under which they were issued does not provide that they shall be paid in coin, they ought, in right and justice, to be paid in the lawful money of the United States.

4. Equal taxation of every species of property according to its real value, including Government bonds, and other public securities.

5. One currency for the Government and the people, the laborer and the office-holder, the pensioner and the soldier, the producer and the bondholder.

6. Economy in the administration of the Government; the reduction of the standing army and navy; the abolishment of the freedmen's bureau, and all political instrumentalities designed to secure negro supremacy; simplification of the system and the discontinuance of inquisitorial boards for assessing and collecting internal revenue, so that the burdens of taxation may be equalized and lessened; the credit of the Government and the currency made sound; the repeal of all enactments for enrolling the State militia into National forces in time of peace; a tariff for revenue upon foreign imports, and such equal taxation under the internal revenue laws as will afford incidental protection to domestic manufactures, and as will, without impairing the revenue, impose the least burden upon and best promote and encourage the great industrial interests of the country.

7. Reform of abuses in the Administration, the expulsion of corrupt men from offices, the abrogation of useless offices, the restoration of rightful authority to, and the independence of the Executive and Judicial departments of the Government, the subordination of the military to the civil power to the end that the usurpations of Congress and the despotism of the sword may cease.

8. Equal rights and protection for naturalized and native-born citizens at home and abroad; an assertion of American nationality, which shall command the respect of foreign powers, and furnish an example and encouragement to people struggling for national integrity, constitutional liberty and individual rights, and the maintenance of the rights of naturalized citizens against the absolute doctrine of immutable allegiance, and the claims of foreign powers to punish them for alleged crimes committed beyond their jurisdiction.

In demanding these measures and reforms we arraign the Radical party for its disregard of right, and the unparalleled oppression and tyranny which have marked its power, alike in the most solemn and unanimous pledge of both Houses of Congress to prosecute the war exclusively for the maintenance of the Government and the preservation of the Union under the Constitution.

It has repeatedly violated that most sacred pledge under which was rallied that noble volunteer army, which carried our flag to victory.

Instead of restoring the Union, it has, so far as in its power, dissolved it, and subjected ten States in time of peace to military despotism and negro supremacy.

It has nullified there the right of trial by jury.

It has abolished the habeas corpus, that most sacred writ of liberty.

It has overthrown the freedom of speech and the press.

It has substituted arbitrary seizures and arrests, and military trials and secret Star Chamber inquisitions, for constitutional tribunals.

It has disregarded in time of peace the right of the people to be free from search and seizures.

It has entered the post and telegraph offices, and even the private rooms of individuals, and seized their private papers and letters, without any specification or notice of affidavit, as required by the organic law.

It has converted the American capitol into a bastile.

It has established a system of spies and official espionage to which the worst constitutional monarchy of Europe would now dare to resort.

It has abolished the right of appeal on important constitutional questions to the supreme judiciary tribunal, and threatens to imprison and destroy its original jurisdiction which is irrevocably vested by the Constitution, while the learned Chief Justice has been subjected to the most atrocious calumnies, merely because he would not prostitute his high office to the support of the false and partisan charges preferred against the President.

Its corruption and extravagance have exceeded anything known in history, and by its frauds and monopolies it has nearly doubled the burden of debt created during the war.

It has stripped the President of his constitutional power of appointment, even of his own cabinet.

Under its repeated assaults the pillars of the Government are rocking on their base, and should it succeed in November next and inaugurate its president we will meet as a subject and conquered people amid the ruins of liberty and the scattered fragments of the Constitution; and we do declare and resolve that ever since the people of the United States threw off all subjection to the British crown the privilege and trust of suffrage have belonged to the several States, and have been granted, regulated and controlled exclusively by the political power of each State respectively, and any attempt by Congress, on any pretext whatever, to deprive any State of this right, or interfere with the exercise, is a flagrant usurpation of power which can find no warrant in the Constitution, and, if sanctioned by the people, will subvert our form of government, and can only end in a single centralized, consolidated government in which the separate existence of the States will be entirely absorbed, and an unqualified despotism be established in place of a federal Union of equal States.

Thus we regard the reconstruction acts of Congress, so-called, as usurpations, unconstitutional, revolutionary and void, and that our soldiers and sailors who carried the flag of our country to victory against a most gallant and determined foe, must ever be gratefully remembered, and all the guarantees given in their favor must be faithfully carried into execution.

That the public lands should be distributed widely among the people, and should be disposed of either under the pre-emption or homestead laws, and sold in reasonable quantities, and to none but actual occupants at the minimum price as established by the Government. When grants of the public lands may be allowed, necessary for the encouragement of important public improvements, the proceeds of the sale of such lands and not the lands themselves should be so applied.

That the President of the United States, Andrew Johnson, in exercising the power of his high office in resisting the aggressions of Congress on the constitutional rights of the States and the people, is entitled to the gratitude of the whole American people, and on behalf of the Democratic party we tender him our thanks for his patriotic efforts in that regard.

Upon this platform the Democratic party appeal to every patriot, including all the conservative element and all who desire to support the Constitution and restore the Union, forgetting all past differences of opinion, to unite with us in the present great struggle for the liberties of the people, and that to all such, by whatever party they may have heretofore belonged, we extend the right hand of fellowship and hail as such co-operating with us as friends and brothers.

TO FARMERS AND MECHANICS.

WHITE'S STATION, July 13, 1868.

We believe "in union there is strength," and that in any undertaking where numbers are interested there exists an absolute necessity for harmony and concert of action, in order to insure success. The truth of this adage is admitted, and needs no further proof of its correctness than to observe the workings of the different avocations and professions of life. In all prosperous cities merchants have their chambers of commerce, bankers their associations, printers their unions, the legal and medical fraternities their rules, and so on with almost every calling you can name, if you will only except the farmers and mechanics of the States overrun by the late disastrous war, who, it seems, work alone without any well organized plans, modes or systems—each one upon his own individual opinions or views, without any co-operation, for others interested in the same end; as if there existed no community of interest whatever in these two all-important callings. We are of the opinion that this is altogether wrong, and that there is an immediate and urgent demand for a reformation; that there should be a reunion of the farming people of this country, to discuss in every way the question of agriculture—the great lever or motive power by which the prosperity, peace and happiness of the whole universe is sustained, upheld and driven forward. With the increase of the soil, the prosperity of the whole world increases, commerce thrives—in fact, every channel is buoyant, and the people happy; with its decrease, adversity chases away prosperity, commerce wanes, and the busy channels of life become stagnant pools, and the people more or less discontented.

It is not expected in this address to the farming community to discuss elaborately the many natural advantages our soil and climate possesses. Suffice it to say they are as great and as many as any section of America; that the native capacity of the soil is the same to-day as when it brought forth its mighty abundance years ago; that the same productive virtues and properties are in the fields of Shelby county to-day as were in it ten years ago when it produced the cotton that bore off the prizes at the great World's fair in London. And we believe that there can be no doubt, if properly implored, old Mother Earth will be as liberal to her children to-day as then; but we have not yet approached her in the proper way, and we accuse her unjustly when we say we cannot make the corn, cotton, wheat, oats, potatoes, the every thing, that we did then; and it is a direct insult offered to her former benevolent charity and goodness, when we go to other granaries for our cereals, other smokehouses for our mite of meat, other gardens for our seeds, other pastures for our horses, other meadows for our cows and sheep, and to other markets for everything we use, whether it be the trifling paper of pins or the costly fabrics of the East. The Great Giver of every good has lately sown the refreshing showers over the parched earth, and vegetation gives evidences of new life and vigor. The signs are promising, and bid us take courage and be of good cheer, that our deserts shall yet rejoice, and our waste lands blossom abundantly and rejoice even with joy and singing.

But we may go on theorizing, quietly fold our arms, say we must live at home, that we must raise our own grain, seeds, meats and stock till doomsday. Unless we arouse ourselves to action, to the vital importance of the unity of action, determine that there is a community of interest among the farmers of Shelby county, that we will be live working men, that we will be no longer the hewers of wood and the drawers of the lights and grievous burdens that we have so long borne. To the end, then, that we may have an opportunity of thus working together, the Committee of the White's Station Agricultural and Stock Association do most earnestly and cordially request the farmers and mechanics, and all others interested, from every portion of Shelby county, to meet us at Eudora Church, nine miles east of Memphis, on the Memphis and Charleston Railroad, Saturday, the 25th inst., at 10 o'clock a.m. At which time and place a full, fair and honest interchange of opinions, views and feelings can be had, and such action taken as we then and there may determine on for furthering the objects suggested above, and discussing the importance of forming an Agricultural Society of the county.

All of which we most urgently and respectfully submit.

The Burials of the Norman Kings.

The first beginning of the royal burials at Westminister is uncertain. Sebert and Ethelgoda were believed to lie by the entrance of the Chapter House. A faint tradition speaks of the interment of Harold Harefoot in Westminister. But his body was dug up by Hardicanute, decapitated, and afterward cast into the adjacent marsh or into the Thames, and then buried by the Danes in their graveyard, where now stands the Church of St. Clement Danes. It was the grave of Edward the Confessor which eventually drew the other royal sepulchres around it. Such a result of the burial of a royal saint or hero has been almost universal. But though his characters enumerate the royal sepultures as among the privileges of Westminister, the custom grew but slowly. In the first instance it may have indicated no more than his personal desire to be interred in the edifice whose building he had watched with so much anxious care; and his Norman successors were buried on the same principle, each in his own favorite sanctuary, unless some special cause intervened. The Conqueror was buried at Caen, in the abbey which he had dedicated to St. Stephen; William Rufus at Winchester, from his sudden death in the neighboring forest; Henry I. at Reading, in the abbey founded out of his father's treasure for his father's soul; Stephen in his abbey at Faversham; Henry II. in the great Argevin Abbey at Fontevrault, the foundation of Robert Arbrissel by the "fountain of the robber Evrard." His eldest son Henry was buried at Rouen. In that same city, because it was so hearty and cordial to him, was laid the "large lion heart" of Richard, while his bowels, as his least honored parts, lay among the Poitevins, whom he least honored, at Chaluz, where he was killed. But his body rested at Fontevrault, at his father's feet, in token of sorrow for his unfilial conduct, to be, as it were, his father's footstool, in the robes which he had worn at his second coronation at Winchester. John's wife, Isabella, was interred at Fontevrault, and his own heart was placed there in a golden cup; but he himself was laid at Worcester for a singular characteristic reason. With that union of superstition and profaneness so common in the religious belief of the middle ages, he was anxious to elude after death the demons whom he had so faithfully served in life. For this purpose he not only gave orders to disguise his body in a monk's cowl, but to bury it between two saints. The royal cathedral of Wordester, which John had especially favored in life, possessed two Saxon saints, in close juxtaposition; and between these two, Wulfstan and Oswald, the wicked King was laid. But meanwhile an irresistible instinct had been drawing the Norman Princes toward the race of their English subjects, and therefore towards the dust of the Saxon King. Along with the annual commemoration of those slain at the battle of Hastings, were celebrated in the abbey the anniversaries of Emma, the Confessor's mother, and of Ethelred, his father. Edith, his wife "of venerable memory," lay beside him. And now to join them came the "good Queen Maud," daughter to Malcolm Canmore and Margaret, and thus niece of Edgar and granddaughter of Edward Atheling, who had revived in the heart of Henry I. a feeling toward her Anglo-Saxon kinsfolk such as no other of the Conqueror's family had known. The importance of the marriage is indicated by the mass of elaborate scruples that had to be set aside to accomplish it. She, a veiled nun, had become a wife for this great object. It was supposed to be a fulfillment of the Confessor's last prophetic apologue, in which he described the return of the severed branch to the parent tree. His own sepulchral abbey at Reading was built by him chiefly to expiate his father's sins against the English. His royal chapel at Windsor bore the name of the Confessor, till it was dedicated by Edward III. to St. George. He and she received from the Normans the derisive epithets of "Goodric" and "Godiva." He crown name was Edith, after her great aunt, the Confessor's wife. In deference to Norman prejudices she changed it to "Matilda." But she devoted herself with undisguised ardor to the Abbey where her kinsman Edward and her namesake Edith lay buried. Often she came there in haircloth and barefooted, to pay her devotions. She increased its relics by the gift of a large part of the hair of Mary Magdalene. The honor of her sepulture was claimed by the old Anglo-Saxon sanctuary at Winchester, by that of Abbey of Reading, and by the Cathedral of St. Paul's. But there is no reason to doubt the tradition that she lies on the south side of the Confessor's shrine, and is thus the first royal personage so interred since the troubles of the conquest.—Dean Stanley's Memorials of Westminster Abbey.

The New Luther Monument at Worms.

The German papers designate the new Luther monument at Worms, as the most extensive work of plastic art in Germany. The monument stands upon a square platform of granite, surrounded by all sides by two steps. The sides of this platform measure forty feet. On each of its four corners is a pedestal, eight feet high, of polished syenite, with the four mightiest champions of the Reformation in bronze—Frederic, the Elector of Saxony; Philip, Landgrave of Hessia; Melanchton and Reuchlin. They are eight feet and a half in hight. The front of the square is left open, forming a thirty feet wide entrance to the principal monument between the Elector and Landgrave. The three other sides are closed by battlements, four or five feet high, of the same polished rock. In the middle of each of these battlements, and on an elevation of seven feet are three allegoric sitting figures, representing the cities of Augsburg, Magdeburg and Spire, and on each of the twenty-four pinnacles are the insignia of the principal German cities that fought and suffered for the Reformation. The principal pedestal, with the colossal statue of Luther, is sixteen feet high, the statue of the Reformer himself ten feet and a half. He stands upright, in his well known Franciscan garment, just as he lives in the minds of the millions who follow him. On the four socle columns of the main pedestal are the four forerunners of the Reformation, Peter Waldus, 1197; John Wickliffe, 1387; John Huss, 1415, and Hieronymus Savanarola, 1492. The main socle consists of three parts. The lower one is of polished syenite; the two higher ones, of unequal dimensions are bronze. The ornamentation of the two bronze cubas is described as wonderfully well conceived and rich. On either side there are the medallions of great German Protestants—Ulrich Von Hutten, Franz Von Siekingen, Justus Jonas and Johann Bugenhagen—surrounded and connected by baserlets of great beauty. Mottoes and celebrated utterances of Luther adorn the lower socle.

Those who saw Miss Hosmer's two sketches of the Lincoln monument can not fail to discover a certain resemblance of the arrangement of the whole. The principal difference between the two monuments is in this, that Miss Hosmer's suffers under the great generalization of her subject, which made it very difficult—especially in the first sketch, where at a height of sixty feet the corpse of Mr. Lincoln lay in a coffin—to understand what she intended by it, whilst not one among a million can misunderstand the German monument. It says what it intends to say in plain words, whilst one has to work himself through a protracted allegory in the Lincoln monument before he reaches the heart of Miss Hosmer's problem. The mere external arrangement of the whole is very near the same in both monuments, though the German one seems to be more compact and comprehensible by one coup d' œil. The statue of Michael Angelo's great statuary works is visible in both, though Mr. Rietchell, the German artist, seems to have penetrated deeper into the thought of the great master. The illustrated papers of next month will bring the drawing of the Luther monument to this country, and then every one will be better enabled to form his own judgment. —St. Louis Republican.

—Madame Ristori has played three hundred and forty-nine times in America, prior to her departure for Europe, an elegant photograph album was presented to her by the American Dramatic Fund Association. The book was made by Messrs. Tiffany & Co. It is a quarto, bound in Russia leather, richly embossed with gold, and made to hold two hundred cartes de visite. On one side, engraved on a gold plate, is the inscription, "Presented to Adelaide Ristori. A tribute of esteem and gratitude, from the American Dramatic Fund Association, June 25, 1868." And on the other, Madame Ristori's monogram in gold letters, surmounted by her coronet. Upon small gold plates on either side are inscribed, "Medea, Elizabeth, Marie Stuart, Macbeth, Myrrha, Judith, Marie Antoinette," and "Sor Teresa." The volume formed a graceful and appropriate gift, and will be no doubt highly valued as a souvenir.—N. Y. Home Journal.

John B. Haskin, the distinguished lawyer, Colonel Sam. Reid, of New Orleans, Wm. J. Reid, of New York, and "Barry Gray," of Woodbine Cottage.

—Bostonians enjoyed an original feather in their Fourth of July celebration, namely, the appearance of Mayor Shurtleff on horseback. Since the days of Theodore Lyman they have not had a chief-magistrate who could sit on horseback.

—The Nashville Banner of Saturday says: By a gentleman from Chattanooga, we learn that a terrific thunder storm visited that place day before yesterday. During the storm a man, a mule and a dog were instantaneously struck dead by lightning. A portion of the Catholic church was shivered by the terrible element, and two men, who had been working on the new parsonage near, and who had sought shelter in the church, were struck, and one of them was thought to be fatally injured.

A Fact for Farmers.

It may not be generally known that the seed of the sunflower is the most infallible remedy yet discovered for the speedy cure of founder in horses. The directions which we glean from a brief article upon the subject in the Essex Banner, says:

"Immediately on discovering that your horse is foundered, mix about a pint of the whole seed in his food, and it will perfect a cure."

Sunflowers are easily grown along sides of fences and out-of-the-way places where they take up but little room. The seed when fed in small quantities to the horse is very healthy, giving to the hair a peculiar gloss. It is diuretic in its tendency. Fowls like it much and thrive on it.

Inauguration of a Jewish Orphan Asylum—A Grand Gala Day—Description of the Asylum—Grand Procession—Inauguration Ceremonies—Addresses—Banquet and Ball at the Rink.

From a Cleveland (Ohio) Exchange.]

Yesterday was the occasion of the inauguration of the Hebrew Orphan Asylum of the Second District of the Independent Order of B'nai B'rith, or Sons of the Covenant. It was a day long to be remembered in Cleveland, and was one of the greatest Jewish fetes which has ever occurred in this country.

THE ASYLUM

As is well known to our readers, it is the fine brick edifice at the upper end of Kinsman street, formerly used as a water cure establishment. It is conceded to be one of the finest pieces of property owned by the sect on this continent, and in every way well calculated for the purposes for which it is intended. It is situated in the midst of four and a half acres of land, beautifully laid out. The structure is three hundred and sixty feet long in front, and two hundred and sixty feet deep. The asylum is four stories high and has seventy rooms, including school room, chapel, offices, superintendent's apartments, sleeping, eating and cooking rooms.

The dining room, kitchen, laundry, wash rooms and store rooms are in the basement, and are commodious, comfortable apartments. On the first floor are the reception rooms, play rooms, secretary's office and superintendent's office. The second story contains bedrooms, hospital, wash and bath rooms, wardrobe and linen rooms. On the third floor are the school room and reserved apartments. Gymnastic apartments will be erected in the yards.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession was considerably delayed on account of more persons being present than even the liberal preparations could accommodate. At about three o'clock the body moved, in the following order:

Detachment of Police under Sergeant Goodrich.
Germania Band (18 pieces.)
Solomon Sloss, Marshal.
Solomon Lodge (150 men).
Banner of the Order.
S. A. Tuch, Marshal.
Montefiore Lodge.
Abe Swartz, Marshal.
Hebrew Library Society.

Thirty-eight young ladies representing the lodges in the district, in coaches beautifully trimmed and furnished by the American and United States Express Companies.

The Mayor and members of the Common Council in carriages.

Delegates from the District Grand Lodge.
J. Frank, Marshal.
Members of the Press in carriages.
Ladies, invited guests, committee of arrangements, and trustees of the Asylum in carriages.

The route of the procession was from Rouse's Block, along the square to Ontario street, up Ontario to Pittsburg street, thence to Kinsman street and the Asylum.

At about half-past three the procession reached

THE GROUNDS.

Over the gate was a semi-circular board about one foot wide, bordered with oak leaves festooned in a continuous wreath and festooned with flags. Upon this were the words:

"Jewish Orphan Asylum."

A short distance along the walk in the yard a piece of white canvas was stretched, decorated like the sign at the gate, and printed upon it the sentence:

"Welcome to the Orphans' Friends."

On the front of the building were two large and several small flags. Between the second and third stories, over the door, is a marble tablet on which is inscribed the following:

ORPHAN ASYLUM.
I. O. B. B.
District No. 2.
1868, 5868.

Over the door was arranged a piece of white canvas cut in the shape of a heart, bordered with and supporting festoons of leaves. It bore this sentiment in German characters:

Seid gegruesst,
Vater und Mutter den
Waisen sein, bringst der Liebe lohnend streben, selbst
den rechter Mensch
zusein und der Menschlichkeit
zu leben.

THE PLATFORM.

After the procession reached the entrance to the ground the company immediately proceeded to the front of the east wing of the Asylum, in the shade of which a platform had been temporarily erected for the speakers. This stand was elaborately ornamented with festoons of green leaves and little flags. On this platform were seated the following officers of the Grand Lodge of B'nai B'rith: J F. Bamberger, of Louisville, Ky., G. N. A.; —— Liebschutz, of Cincinnati, G. A.; L. Schloss, G. B. H.; A. Abrahams, of Cincinnati, G. S.; L. Abrahams, of Cincinnati, G. T. The following trustees: A. Aub, of Cincinnati; William Kriegshaber, of Louisville; I. Bush, of St. Louis; E. Brodwig, of Cincinnati, and A. E. Frankland, of Memphis. The following clergymen: Rev. Dr. Wise, of Cincinnati; Rev. Dr. Mayer, of Cleveland, and Rev. M. Coan; also his Honor, Mayor Buhrer and eighteen of the Council of Cleveland and the following guests from abroad: Messrs. B. F. Peixotto, of New York; Simon Wolf, of Washington, D. C, and E. Flint, superintendent of the C. C. & C. R. R. At the rear of the stage sat Miss Therese Aub, of Cincinnati, and thirty-eight young misses, representing the lodges of this district. All were dressed in pure white, and each held in her hand a small flag having on it the name of the lodge she represented.

Resting against the wall of the building at the rear of the platform was a beautiful blue silk banner, trimmed with silver and gold bullion, presented by the Jewish ladies of Cleveland to the Asylum. Upon it were the following words in gilt letters:

"VON ISRAEL'S TOECHTERN
IM
CLEVELAND,
1868" A.
O.

And these words in Hebrew characters:

"B' nai B' rith."

Under the trees in front of the stage were extemporized some board seats, which accommodated but a small portion of the vast audience in attendance.

THE EXERCISES.

At about half-past three Mr. Abraham Aub, chairman of the Executive Committee, to whom the purchasing of the Asylum had been entrusted, called the attention of the audience and introduced Rev. Dr. Mayer, of this city, who made an eloquent prayer in German.

Prayer was then offered and the benediction pronounced by Rev. Dr. Kleeberg, of Louisville, after which the Asylum was thrown open for inspection.

A photograph of the thirty eight young ladies was taken immediately after the inauguration exercises.

After rambling through the Asylum for awhile, the assembly dispersed at about half-past five, to meet again in the evening at the Rink.

THE BANQUET.

In the evening nearly one thousand persons gathered at the Rink to attend the grand banquet and ball. The interior was appropriately decorated with flags, large and small, Chinese lanterns and hanging baskets of flowers. The early part of the evening was spent in social conversation and promenading.

At about ten o'clock the company sat down at the five tables, extending the whole length of the hall, and feasted upon an elegant repast. After a time had been thus spent, the president of the evening, Mr. Simon Wolf, of Washington, called the assembly to order, and announced, in order, the following toasts:

"The Star Spangled Banner." Responded to by the band playing that tune, and the whole audience singing the chorus.

"The City of Cleveland." Mayor Buhrer.

"The Constitution of the Grand Lodge I. O. B. B." B. F. Peixotto, Past Grand Sasr.

"The District Grand Lodge, No. 2." J. F. Bamberger, G. N. A.

"Our Sister Lodges: may we seek to have them perfect in all that can refine, adorn, liberalize, enlighten and elevate the lives of our members." Joseph Abrams, of Cincinnati.

"The Israelites of the Nineteenth Century." Henry Greenbaum, of Chicago.

"The Orphan Asylum which has been so gloriously inaugurated to-day." Messrs. A. Aub, of Cincinnati, and Simon Wolf, of Washington.

The speeches having been finished, the tables were cleared away and the remainder of the night was spent in dancing and mirth.

The whole day was passed very pleasantly, and those who have witnessed the ceremonies and entertainments will ever revert to them with pleasure.

LET US HAVE PEACE.

Glittering Gems from our Genial Governor.

The following choice olive branches are culled from Brownlow's Knoxville Whig of Wednesday:

I.

During the past week we took a trip into the country, on wheels, as far as ten miles north of our town. * * * The object of our visit to the country was to see a meeting of the several Union Leagues, which took place in the Seventh Civil District. Those who flatter themselves that the Leagues have died out, ought to have been present and seen the masses on horseback and on foot, with banners flying. Speeches were delivered by Messrs. Houk, Williams and Cooper. All was order and good cheer, and all were for Grant and Colfax.

SENIOR EDITOR.

II.

It is evident that that class of Knoxville rebels who still swear they will establish a Southern Confederacy, and their more infamous associates who call themselves "Conservatives," are bent upon further trouble.

Hitherto we have counseled peace, as have all men of the Radical party. These assassins have construed our course to mean cowardice. We no longer counsel peace. War is what they evidently desire, and in God's name we say let it come. On Gay street they (the Ashby sympathisers) have the majority. In the country we (the radicals) have the majority. Our friends in the country tell us they are all armed and prepared to march into Knoxville on short notice.

Let the fight come and that speedily, and we will gut and clean out the infernal traitors and assassins who back Ashby.

III.

The Governor will feel it his duty, and he will be certain to discharge that duty, to arm and equip the loyal men at the expense of the State, and see that such riots and mobs are put down, and their guilty authors punished as they deserve to be punished. The cry of tyrant, despot and bloody-minded wretch, raised against him, will not deter him from the discharge of what he believes to be his duty.

The Duty of the Old Men of the State.

Has it ever occurred to you, Mr. Editor, that there is a very responsible duty resting upon the elderly male citizens of the State, which, after the pending Presidential election, they can never discharge? The safety of public liberty and the preservation of Constitutional Government have at all times depended, to a very great extent, upon the number of patriotic men who have been trained from early boyhood to expound the principles of government, and guide the masses in defending those great principles of Constitutional liberty upon which society relies for repose and safety. Before our generation passes away, the succeeding one has sent up a sufficient number to mingle with their predecessors and become trained to the great task, while enough of the older ones remain to train them and induct them into the art of forensic contests. Our presidential elections have for many years past served as the school in which these orators have been trained. Many of our most brilliant orators and most useful defenders of the rights of the people, have been picked up at the opening of a Presidential campaign were inexperienced boys, who were frightened at the sound of their own voices in a crowd; but they were taken in hand by the old experienced political soldiers, and before the campaign was over, they became the leaders of the masses and defenders of the poor man's rights. These formed the nursery from which the people afterwards drew their Congressmen, their Legislators and their Governors. These things have been done, and an unbroken chain or succession of competent men kept on hand by our generation, lapping over and mingling with the one coming on. But it should be remembered that by this mode of training the young has been broken up for nearly eight years. The boy who should have been trained at eighteen, twenty or twenty-one years of age, eight years since, is being somewhat sobered. The time for such training was spent in camp, and before another general election, in 1872, we of the above class will be so thinned out by death that those who come after us will have to enter upon their work without the training so essential to success. Now, then, Mr. Editor, I propose that our elderly men, who have "stumped it" in former days, and know something of the art of canvassing go to work, organize each our people, help them put themselves in political battle array and then send out the young fledglings, give these a few lessons and then trust them, and they will do the work. Hundreds of them are orators without knowing it. They would be frightened to hear their own voices in a crowd, but let them feel the support of the old campaigner for awhile, let him see how these things are done, and "the old man eloquent" may go home and go to sleep—the young men will do it all. Memphis alone ought to turn out two hundred young orators; nor will they be taken from the legal profession alone; these embryo orators are found behind the counter, in the work shops, and from the surrounding farms.

I remember well years ago, when an ardent young gin maker, of whom no one had dreamed as an orator, sprang forth from his shop and, with scarcely more than a single bound, led his party forth to victory. One of our trained orators now in our midst is said to have driven a dray. I don't know much of his art in that line, but I know that when started out by his friends he felt great alarm at the idea of encountering his old school teacher on the stump, but it required only a few lessons from older heads before he led his teacher a whole length in debate and distanced him at the polls. Let us call out our young men. Yes, call them out all over the State. Give them a few lessons and the work is done. CAMDEN.

A CHILD WONDER.

Strange Episode in a Ball-room—Foothills on the Boundaries of Another World.

From the Nashville Banner.]

The gay company at the ball given at the Court-house by the Nashville Base Ball Club on Thursday night, were somewhat startled about eleven o'clock, by a most extraordinary and singular occurrence. A little girl named Anna Daisy, apparently thirteen years of age, had made her appearance in the ball-room at nine o'clock, and, as far as could be ascertained, without an escort. She had danced every set, and had partaken freely of all the refreshments given her up to eleven o'clock, when, overheated and looking very pale, she ran to the nearest seat and sat down. Here she pressed her hands to her forehead and leaned forward, as though she were about to faint. Her singular conduct having attracted the attention of a young man who sat beside her, he at once hastened for water and fans, with the hope of speedily relieving her from her precarious situation. All the simple remedies that could be thought of or recommended were used without avail. She sank into a kind of stupor from which it was thought she would never awake. Her respiration was hard and frequently attended with convulsions. She was laid out upon some chairs and seemed without the power of moving either limbs or body. Her eyes all the while being wide open, all believed her in a trance. Dr. Menees was summoned, and administered several restoratives, which seemed partially to relieve her from the stupor, but not from the hysterical condition into which she had fallen. Her countenance then assumed a lively appearance, and she commenced bending the forefinger of her right hand soon after, and most gracefully, raising her hand, pointed it toward heaven, and said, "Mother." She next let her hand fall upon her breast, and for a moment her countenance wore an expression of deep melancholy. There issued from her lips a most beautiful and eloquent prayer, the language of which was select and appropriate, inasmuch that all were astonished. She next repeated a great number of verses, and where her memory lacked she supplied with a remarkable degree of aptitude. After this, she told a story, following out the thread, and clothing it in beautiful language.

She made the following expressions, her countenance changing with the sentiments: "Jesus is my friend." "Cruel brothers." "O, if I should go astray, what voice would there be to woo me from an erroneous path?" All her remarks were seemingly addressed to her mother, though dead, yet living in the memory of her child. She sang a song, "I am dying," with so much pathos that every eye was filled with tears. All this time Dr. Menees had tried in vain to attract her attention.

She awoke at a quarter to one, and said she would again enter the same state when one o'clock should come, which was verified on the striking of the bell. She continued in this condition, which was not so severe as before, for an hour, when she awoke and became extremely lively and vivacious in conversation. She resumed the floor and danced until late in the morning.

She is represented as being very pretty and intelligent for one of her age. Her mother died some time since, leaving her with her father and three brothers, the first of whom seems to care little about, and the last three to abuse and cruelly and brutally beat her.

One of her brothers is now in the workhouse, having been sent there for seventy-two days, for his violent treatment of her. While she is cruelly beaten, she is also starved for days. Her appetite at the ball room is represented as having been most ravenous, and she is said to have eaten much more than three healthy persons ought to have done without suffering a derangement of the system.

It is believed that if she were given a good home and well cared for, that she would get rid of those peculiar spells which, it seems, are not unusual with her. She states that God had told her that she should never be alone when they should come upon her.

She was escorted to her home on the corner of South Union and Spruce streets on the termination of the ball.

Death of an Eccentric Nobleman.

Jacques Marie Armand, Count de Guerry, de Beauregard and Manbreuil, and Marquis d'Orvault, whose extraordinary marriage with a hackney coachman's daughter and demi-monde lady, Mademoiselle Schumacker, made a great deal of noise a short time ago, died in Paris recently, at the age of eighty-five. This representative of a great family expired in an humble lodging which he had for some time occupied, in great poverty, in a maison meublee. About two months ago the Marquis d'Orvault went to England in the hope of getting in some money which was owing, or which he fancied was owing, to him. The journey was probably not successful, as after his return he became exceedingly low spirited. It is stated that his widow, La Marquise d'Orvault, telegraphed to two noble relations of the deceased to ask whether they would not wish to have the corpse embalmed and sent for interment to the family vault in La Vendee. They replied that they had no wish on the subject, and that the marquise might do as she pleased. The marquis was buried at Pere la Chaise. The marquise, who followed the hearse in a mourning carriage, provided him with a first-class funeral. The only mourners on foot were his doctor and M. Belmontel, the deputy. The Marquis d'Orvault was a tall, fine-looking man, with a bald head and flowing white beard. In dress and demeanor he looked the old soldier he was. He had his feet frozen when in Russia, and in consequence always wore immensely thick shoes.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Correspondents who wish to have any attention paid to their communications must observe the following rules:

Be brief, concise and to the point, avoid the "flowers of rhetoric," and confine yourself to a plain statement of facts. Write on but one side of the paper in a clear hand, and with pen and ink, giving your words and sentences plenty of room. In all cases the real name and address of the writer must accompany the manuscript. Articles which redound to personal or individual benefit, or are of a personal nature, will only be inserted as "advertisements" or "paid cards."

DISTRICT CONVENTION.

The meeting of delegates to select a Congressman and Electors for the Eighth District of Tennessee, will be held at Brownsville on the 8th of August.

JOE LOCKE has a full and late assortment of everything in the line of ephemeral reading.

A RABID DOG was killed yesterday on Elliott street by officer S. F. Wand, of the Second district.

LEO WHEAT, Esq., who was prostrated by sunstroke a few days ago in Louisville, is, we are happy to say, rapidly recovering.

TO STEAMBOAT CAPTAINS who may wish to secure the services of an excellent A No. 1 steward, who can give the very best references—such a one can be furnished by addressing "Democratic darky," APPEAL office, Memphis. 3t

A GOOD CIGAR is a luxury that few can afford now-a-days, when bought at the present prices generally asked for them at the retail establishments. Our friend Lubrie, however, on the corner of Main street and Whisky Chute, has some most excellent weeds, as we can aver from personal probation, which he sells at most moderate terms. Visit him, ye smokers.

ROOM ROBBED.—The sleeping room of Messrs. Hewitt & Schools, in the Clay Building, was entered yesterday morning and robbed of over $500 worth of clothing. No clue to detect the thieves has yet been obtained, but two negroes were arrested on suspicion, and locked up. The detectives have the matter in hand, and will throw some light on the matter to-day, no doubt.

EMMONS & SON, No. 10 Jefferson street, and 393 Main street, received last night the Round Table, Day Book, London Punch, London Times, London Illustrated News, Staats, Rural New Yorker, New York Home Journal, Southern Home Journal, Ladies' Friend, for August; Nick Nax, New Yorker Demokrat, Sketch Book, Scientific American, Italian paper, New York Observer, Artisan, Country Gentleman, Home and Abroad, Galaxy, for August; Demorest, for August; La Semaine, French Courier, LeMonde, Scottish American, Gleason's Literary Companion, New York Clipper, New York Weekly, Leslie's Illustrated Paper, Police Gazette, Police News, Independent Boys' and Girls' Weekly, Young America, for August; Good Words, for July; Sunday Magazine, for July; Putnam's Magazine for August; Harper's Weekly, Harper's Magazine, for August; and all the Northern Dailies.

THE WEATHER.—Yesterday was another scorcher, up to about four o'clock, when the skies became overcast and a wind from the south and west sprang up. For a little while it blew quite a gale, doing some damage to shutters and signs, and whirling into the air vast clouds of dust and sand. This last is a peculiar feature of the Memphis thunder gust, and can be likened to nothing else in the world except the sand storms of the Sahara. A most refreshing and delightful rain set in about half-past four and lasted for a quarter of an hour, reducing the temperature of the atmosphere several degrees, and refreshing all nature. At present writing the skies are still overcast with black, heavy clouds, and all appearances indicate more rain to-night. The moon changed yesterday afternoon just about the time the storm blew up (3h 56m p.m.), and we may look for a complete change of weather.

INQUESTS.—Coroner Samelson held inquests on the bodies of two men yesterday. The first of whom was Frank Guess, who died day before yesterday, on the steamer Victor as she neared the wharf, having been sunstruck on his way down to Island No. 35.

The second was a one armed man, a private watchman, named John Sullivan, who was sunstruck at Rice's boarding house, at the foot of Washington street, yesterday afternoon about five o'clock.

The verdict in both cases was death from sunstroke.

Since writing the above we have been furnished by Coroner Samelson with still another case: Michael Maroni, who lives on the corner of Madison street and Lauderdale extended, fell down insensible yesterday evening about 5½ o'clock, and expired almost immediately. Verdict of jury: Death from sunstroke.

Our thanks are due to Mr. Samelson, the Coroner, for the kindness and promptness with which he has furnished us information of inquests—after putting himself to considerable trouble to do so. Mr. Samelson is an able and efficient officer, and attends most closely to his business.

A BURNING SHAME.

Who is to Blame?

We respectfully submit the following facts to the attention of our citizens, and to the honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen. We submit them without comment, for they speak louder than any words of ours could. Such a condition of affairs as this bespeaks is a disgrace to any city or country that calls itself civilized:

On Wednesday last the police of the First District picked up in the streets and brought to the station house a young white woman named Mary Allen. She was very ill, and had no home to go to, so Capt. Simonds, like a kind hearted gentleman and officer, interested himself to get her into the City Hospital. He went or sent immediately to the proper official at the City Hall, but could not get the requisite order. He repeated his visit Thursday, Friday and Saturday, with the same result, and not until Saturday afternoon did the necessary order come. Meanwhile the poor creature had been reduced to death's door, in spite of all could be done for her. When the order at last came, there was no provision made to convey her to the Hospital, and not until sometime yesterday did Capt. Simonds succeed in securing one.

On Saturday, we saw a man sitting on a door step on the corner of Main and Adams street, looking like a corpse. On being asked by a policeman what was the matter, he replied that he was very ill, and had been so for two weeks, and that he was then on his way home from the Municipal buildings, where he had been trying to get a permit to go to the hospital, and which was refused him, as it had been several times before.

On Saturday morning a man was found by Sergeant Brown, of the Metropolitan Police, lying very ill and helpless, on the sidewalk on Poplar street, between Third and Fourth streets. The Sergeant promptly notified the proper officer, in writing, of the case, and requested an order to remove the invalid to the hospital. It had not been done several hours afterward when he passed there, and we learn was not done until yesterday morning.

We have heard of other cases, but we think that these three, happening within a day or two past, will be amply sufficient to show that there is "something rotten in Denmark." We appeal to the Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen to take this matter into serious consideration, and remedy it immediately. There is all the more necessity for instant action during the present awful weather, when numbers are falling on our streets daily, overcome with heat, or other similar causes, and who demand immediate medical aid and nursing.

"Welcome Services" at the First Baptist Church Yesterday.

Editors Memphis Appeal:

These were held upon the arrival of the pastor elect, Bsv. D. E. Burns, and his induction into his office. All the Baptist Churches in the city, with their pastors, joined in the welcome. The congregation was very large, and the services of the most interesting and impressive character.

Rev. Dr. Ford preached one of his ablest sermons upon "allegiance to Christ," and took for his subject the three Jewish worthies, and the fiery furnace. He showed that true religion had been in all ages most successfully opposed, not by irreligion, but by false religions; that the adherents to the true, its ministers and members had in all ages been called to suffer for their consistency—Abel, Noah, Moses, and the prophets. He then gave a graphic description of the scene on the Plains of Dura, that thrilled every heart. From the subject he drew inferences:

First—Our allegiance to Christ should rise superior to the obligations of gratitude.

Second—Superior to earthly friendships or worldly popularity.

Third—Superior to the fear of death.

His application of it to the Pastor elect, and to the church, we will not attempt.

He was followed by the Rev. J. R. Graves, the Pastor ad interim, who delivered over his charge to the Paster elect, in one of his happiest efforts. He said: "It is customary in time of war, when an officer delivers over his command to a successor, to explain to him the exact nature of the ground and position occupied by the enemy, and the points he will be most likely to assault, and tender such advice as the circumstances might justify.

He paid a handsome tribute to his predecessors in the ministry—to the venerable Gayle, the father of the Baptist interest in Memphis; to the sainted Finley, passed on to his rest; to those devoted brethren who, like Aaron and Hurr, held up their hands until they were palsied by death—Bunlyn and Lake. He said that the new pastor, after an absence of eighteen years, had returned to the city in a crisis time, when questions of the most vital importance to the church and true Christianity, were exciting the public mind. He might say that the three most powerful and treacherous enemies assaulting the very citadel of Christianity, were (1.) A spurious Ecclesiasticism; (2.) Ritualism—baptismal remission and regeneration, salvation dependent upon rites, etc.; and (3.) Conformity to the world on the part of professed Christians.

Most earnestly did the retiring pastor urge him to faithfulness in meeting the assaults of this trinity of foes; but most powerfully did he press him with his duty respecting the last and most mortal of them all. He appealed to him that, if for the sake of multiplying his baptisms, he would lower the Bible standard of qualification, and receive less than a sound Christian experience.

Would he give the young and worldly his pastoral assurance that they would not be required to separate themselves from the world, but even after the vows of baptism, might continue to visit the theater, the circus, and participate as before in the dance and the immorality of the waltz? Is not this to offend, turn aside, lead astray, one of Christ's little ones, and would it not be "better that a millstone were hung about your neck, and you cast into the sea?" Christ said this; but he would say that in his opinion if the pastor elect should pursue this course of policy to multiply his flock and enhance his popularity that it would be far better for this Church and for the cause in this city that "he had never been born."

Strong language, and emphasized by the speaker's powerful manner, the effect was sensible, and the impression will never be effaced from ministers and members present.

After this charge—we cannot follow it further—while the choir sang a hymn of welcome, all the members of the three churches present came forward and gave the new pastor the hand of fellowship and cordial welcome. The exercises were exceedingly appropriate and impressive; the greeting seemed cordial—tears were shed, whether of joy or of sad memories recalled by the day, we wot not.

The retiring pastor then read the 133d Psalm, "How good and how pleasant a thing it is for brethren to dwell together in unity," and after the doxology besought the divine benediction upon the pastor, the church and the members of the three churches present.

THE KU-KLUX KLAN.

A Manifesto from the G. D. of Realm No. 1.

The following order, taken from the columns of the Nashville Banner, bears upon its face the stamp and seal of genuineness. It is the only one of all the so-called orders that have been published hitherto, that we believe ever emanated from a regular organization, and it gives our idea exactly of what the Ku-Klux Klan ought to be, if it is not. That it ought to be none will deny, for when bad men conspire, good men must combine. Wicked, infamous, thieving, murdering, hypocritical scoundrels have come among us and conspired in their "Loyal Leagues" and "Grand Armies of the Republic"—secret, oath-bound societies both of them—to overturn society, array the two races in deadly antagonism, and raise themselves to place and power by the negro, only that they may plunder and rob the negro and white indiscriminately, and reduce the whites of the South to a slavery and thraldom worse—ten thousand times worse—than African slavery ever was.

HEADQUARTERS REALM NO. 1,
DREADFUL ERA, BLACK EPOCH,
DREADFUL HOUR.

General Order No 1]

WHEREAS, information of an authentic character has reached these headquarters that the blacks in the counties of Marshall, Maury, Giles, Lawrence and other adjacent counties, are organizing themselves into military companies, and are arming and drilling by night, and calling themselves the "Whangs," the "Wide Awakes," the "Black K K.'s," etc.; and whereas, it is understood that they avow their determination to make war upon and to exterminate the Ku-Klux Klan, said blacks are hereby solemnly warned and ordered to desist from further action in such organization, if they exist, and to disband the same immediately. And the Klan in these various counties are hereby ordered to be on the alert, and to investigate the matter, and if these organizations do exist, and are discovered, to disperse them at any cost. The G. D. regrets the necessity of such an order as this, but this Klan shall not be outraged and interfered with by lawless negroes and meaner white men, who do not and never have understood our purposes, or who never wished to understand them. In the first place, this Klan is not an institution of violence, lawlessness and cruelty, as these parties affect to believe.

It is not lawless—it is not aggressive—it is not military—it is not revolutionary. But it is essentially, originally and inherently a protective organization. It proposes to execute law instead of resisting it, and to protect all good men, whether white or black, from the outrages and atrocities of bad men of both colors who have prevailed in the country for the last three years; who have been a terror to society and an injury to us all. But the blacks seem to be impressed with the idea that this Klan is especially their enemy, and we believe this impression has been made upon them by bad white men. However, they may have reached this conclusion, it is erroneous. We are not the enemy of the blacks as long as they behave themselves, make no threats upon us, and do not attack or interfere with us. But, if they deceive themselves or permit others to deceive them, and make war upon us simply upon supposition, as it seems they are preparing to do, and thus force us, against our inclinations and intentions, to hostilities, why, then, we accept the issue, and they must abide by the awful retribution that will follow. We want to avoid this and have peace, and it lies with them to say, by their obedience or disobedience of this order, whether or not we shall avoid it.

It is now an undoubted fact that the Klan, while in its peaceful movements, and while disturbing no one, even in the remotest manner, has been fired on no less than three different times in the vicinity and suburbs of Columbia, in Maury county. This must and will not be endured any longer. We say, therefore, to the blacks and their white allies of that place, that this must not occur again. And if it ever does, and the parties should be discovered, a remorseless vengeance will be wreaked upon them. Information has also reached us that certain officials and certain unofficials in Columbia and that vicinity are instigating the negroes, and advising them to organize these companies of "Whangs," "Wide Awakes," "Black K. K.'s," or whatever else they are called, and to fire into the Kuklux wherever and whenever seen, and that they are furnishing or making preparations to furnish them with arms and ammunition to destroy the Kuklux. For the welfare of these parties, this information had better never be confirmed. This is your warning. And if you have done these things, you had better undo them as rapidly as possible.

We reiterate that we are for peace, law and order, but if you will have war and strife, then the consequences must be upon your own heads. You will not be disturbed as long as you demean yourselves well and peaceably, nor do we intend to be interfered with by you. No man, white or black, shall be molested for his political sentiments. This Klan is not a political party, it is not a military party, but a protective organization, and will never use violence except in resisting violence. It is not in the interest of any particular party, but in that of the welfare of the whole country.

Outrages may be, and doubtless have been perpetrated by irresponsible parties in the name of this Klan, but these are impostors, and if they should be discovered and apprehended by this Klan, they will be dealt with in a manner that will inspire future exemptions from such impositions, as well as protection to those who have been wronged and outraged. It is reported that these impostors have frightened and in some instances whipped negroes without any cause or provocation whatever. This is wrong! wrong! wrong! And it is denounced by this Klan, as it must be by all good and humane men. This Klan now, as in the past, is prohibited from doing these things, and they are requested to prohibit others from doing them, and to protect all good, peaceful, well disposed and law abiding men, whether white or black.

A word to the blacks: We pity your misconceptions of our purposes, and the deception which the white men, professing to be your friends, have practiced upon you, but who in reality are your greatest enemies. Believe what is here stated, and do what is here ordered and you will never be molested. Disband your secret military organizations, if you have any, and do it quickly. Make no threats upon the Kuklux—they are not your enemies unless you make them so by your own conduct. Mind your own business and let the Kuklux alone, and they will not trouble you. But do otherwise, and you must bear the consequences, hard as they may be.

The G. D. deems this order due to the public, due to the Klan, and due to those who are misguided, and we therefore request that all newspapers who are friendly to law, order, peace and the public welfare will publish the same.

By order of the G. D., Realm No. 1.

By the Grand Scribe.

TURTLE SOUP! TURTLE SOUP!—In spite of the hot weather, the MONROE EXCHANGE and Vetter Dreizigacker continue to exist. Turtle soup have not given out, and the lager and wine are kept as cool as if they were stored in a cave dug in an iceberg. Thirsty souls panting for the "water of life," must not forget No. 35 MONROE STREET. The most attentive and polite barkeepers are always present to serve all comers with the very best of liquors. Lunch every day at 10 o'clock. Beer at lunch times ten cents; at all others five cents per glass. jy19 2t

PERSONAL.

—We were pleased to meet, yesterday evening, our friend Jesse W. Page, Jr., who had just returned from a trip North and East.

—Capt. James O. Durff, of the Avalanche, arrived yesterday from the "great Norrud." Two river and commercial editors "might have been seen" shortly after his arrival, wending their way to the rear door of a certain barroom, the keeper of which has not the fear of God and police in his soul.

—Capt. Harvey Mathes, of the Avalanche, and Gen. Forrest arrived in the city yesterday evening.

—We learn that Mayor Leftwich will be at home this evening, or to-morrow at farthest. He was detained in Washington to attend to the Navy Yard business.

POLICE ITEMS.

—There were nine arrests in the First District up to midnight. One or two for fighting, one for keeping his shop open on Sunday, and the balance for trifling offenses.

—In the Second District there were three arrests only, up to seven o'clock p.m. yesterday.

—Fischer & Wildberger were arrested for keeping their store open on Sunday.

—We notice a couple of Washington, D. C., detectives, or secret service-men, again on the streets. Wonder what devilitry is up now?

AFFRAY AT RANDOLPH.—We learn that just before the Natoma reached Randolph, on Saturday, an affray occurred at that place, in which a man named Irvine was shot and dangerously wounded. The circumstances, as detailed to us, were as follows: Irvine, who is a well known desperado, had some words with a stranger and knocked him down. A man named Burnett was standing by and seeing him knock the stranger down, remonstrated with him, upon which Irvine turned upon him and drew a pistol, threatening to shoot him for interfering. Burnett, however, was too quick for him, and before Irvine could use his pistol Burnett had shot him through the body, inflicting a wound from which he can hardly hope to recover. Irvine, who lives in the neighborhood of Randolph, started home after the affray was over, and had not been arrested when the Natoma left. He is justified by all who witnessed the shooting. The Natoma left some ice for the wounded man, who is under good surgical treatment.

Mr. Hadden, the senior member of the firm, though a young man, is one of our most promising business men, and devotes his whole attention to the interests of his customers, while of Mr. William Park, his associate, it is needless to speak, he having been a merchant of Memphis when the city was an infant. Besides the large stock of plantation supplies they keep on hand choice family flour of the celebrated "Clarksville Mills," "Lafayette Gold Flour," "Cobb's Excelsior" and "K. B. Davies' XXXX" Of over five thousand barrels of the former brand sold by this firm last year in this city not one barrel was returned as unsatisfactory.

RIVER MATTERS.

WEATHER AND RIVERS.

MEMPHIS, July 20.—It was intensely hot yesterday previous to the rain, which fell about 4 p. m. This cooled the atmosphere, and the evening was pleasant.

The river fell four inches in the last twenty-four hours. White river is falling. The Arkansas about on a stand. The channel to Little Rock affords three feet, and is improving as the bars cut out. The St. Francis is low, with only water enough to let the Hambleton go to Wittsburg.

Arrivals.

Steamer Natoma, Cincinnati.
" Bismarc, New Orleans.
" Indiana, New Orleans.
" Ozark, Arkansas river.
" Mollie Hambleton, St. F. river.
" City of Cairo, St. Louis.

Departures.

Steamer Bismarck, St. Louis.
" Indiana, Louisville.

In Port.

City of Cairo, Ozark, Mollie Hambleton and Natoma.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Several boats were in port yesterday, and the levee presented more of animation than for several days back. It may serve to show how dull steamboating is, when we state that in the past week only 19 boats have passed this port, up and down. Probably it has been the dullest week ever known at this port.

Capt. John D. Adams, the popular and energetic Superintendent of the Memphis and Arkansas River Packet Company, arrived yesterday on the Ozark. We regret to say that he was suffering from a slight indisposition, but will, we hope, be all right to-day. Captain Adams reports business dull on the Arkansas; but the crops are all that could be wished for and bid fair to yield bountifully.

The Mollie Hambleton, Capt. Bowman, leaves on Tuesday for St. Francis river.

Captain Sam H. Shock, who has been absent in New York and Washington for some months, returned yesterday in splendid health. Captain Sam figured extensively in the "Whisky Ring" affair, and gave old "Spoons" more trouble than the Dutch Gap Canal during the war.

Our fellow laborer, in that portion of the Lord's vineyard, located between the upper and lower wharfboats, Captain J. O. Durff, also returned yesterday from Gothamdom. He did not like the place as well as he anticipated, and therefore did not buy it.

The Natoma came in yesterday from Cincinnati. We have not the space to give an adequate description of this steamer, as she now lies at our levee. It is enough to say that Capt. Lee has spared no expense or pains in making her in all respects better than when she first was launched. Every state-room has been fitted up with new spring mattresses, bedding, etc. Her office has been re-arranged; her entire outfit has, in fact, been renewed. Outwardly, she has no superior on the river in point of beauty and finish. Her wheelhouses are elegantly embellished. Additional arms have been added to her wheels, which will increase her speed from two to three miles per hour. Take her all in all, she is one of the handsomest packets afloat, and her old friends in the beuds below will hardly recognise her. She enters the Friar's Point trade to-day, and will make tri-weekly trips, leaving here on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays. Capt. Jim Lee commands, and Messrs. Billy Fields, Sterling Whitehead and Stack Lee occupy their old positions in the office.

The Commercial, Capt. Ashford, with Charley Smithers in the office, is the regular United States mail packet for White river to-morrow.

The large and splendid City of Cairo, Capt. Crane, Billy Blenker clerk, leaves to-day for Cairo and St. Louis at 5 p.m.

A shooting affray occurred at Randolph on Saturday night, particulars of which will be found in our local columns.

The Indiana passed up yesterday with a good trip. She had over 100 cabin passengers for Louisville.

The Bismarck passed up since our last. She had a splendid freight trip.

The Frank Pargoud will pass up this morning for St. Louis. Capt. John W. Tobin is master.

The United States mail steamer Ozark leaves to-day at 5 p.m. for Little Rock and all way landings. She is prompt, and passengers may rely on her making a quick trip. Capt. Bill Nowland is master of the Ozark, and Jimmy Thompson is her clerk.

The Darling will be in port to leave on Wednesday for Cairo and Cincinnati.

The North Missouri railroad company recently bought from the Quincy bridge company the tow-boat Huron and four barges for $14,000. They are to be used in the construction of the bridge over the Missouri at St. Charles.

The St. Louis Republican of the 18th says: "The meeting of steamboatmen held on Thursday night, for the purpose of organizing a Seymour and Blair club, adjourned to meet at the same place (the room over Hellery's saloon) this evening, when the constitution of the club will be presented and a permanent organization effected. The object of this club is of the utmost utility to steamboatmen, and all should be present this evening and join." Why do not our steamboatmen organize a club and with it beat out the Radical party in November next?

The following returns of passenger receipts by steamer have been made at St. Louis before the U. S. Assessors: Schuler, $1741; Illinois, $2074; City of Pekin, $1654; Post Boy, $1288; Clara, $1176; Jennie Lewis, $1209; Andy Johnson, $2718; H. Johnson, $2541; Rob Roy, $2611; Tom Jasper, $5599; Mollie McPike, $993; Lizzie Gill, $1161; Bismarck, $5551; Stonewall, $1734.

The first locomotive will cross the bridge over the Mississippi, at Burlington, Iowa, within two weeks.

Knowing parties say that business on the Missouri river this season will be unparalleled by that of any other excepting the Mississippi.

The steamer Grecian was sunk in the St. Lawrence river Thursday night. Passengers and baggage landed safely.

A rumor is in circulation to the effect that Captain Frank Hicks is to command the Great Republic.

The steamer Glasgow is high and dry at Glass House. It will require four feet of water to float her off.

Our Latest Improved NEW SCALE PIANO-FORTE,

GROVESTEEN & CO.,

499 Broadway, N. Y.,

THESE instruments, after the most flattering testimonials from the first Pianists in the country who, at our solicitation, have tested them in the severest manner possible, have been pronounced THE FINEST SQUARE PIANO-FORTE MADE IN THE WORLD.

It has always been our policy, during the thirty-six years that we have manufactured Pianos, twelve thousand of which are now in use in the United States and Europe, to give the best instrument at the lowest cost. Our superior facilities enable us to offer them from one to three hundred dollars less than any other First Class House.

The tone of these instruments are remarkable for their peculiar Sweetness and Great Brilliancy, never losing their quality when forced to their utmost capacity. The lower register retaining its positiveness, does not destroy the middle and upper register by its mingling with them in disagreeable confusion, the refined beauty of tone being equally delightful to the unpracticed and to the most cultivated ear.

They are an entirely new style of Piano, finished in the most superb manner, with four full round corners, front and back, have heavily carved legs and Lyre Serpentine Base richly moulded, and each instrument is fully warranted for five years. sep6 dawly

GENTLEMEN: You ask me for my statement relative to your cure for ERYSIPELAS OR ERYSIPELOID IN HORSES and MULES, which you style

"MAGIC ARNICA LINIMENT."

I have used your Liniment in about two dozen cases with perfect success. I had lost all hope of a remedy, but believe your discovery "THE REMEDY." I have not failed in a single case in which I have applied your Liniment. I believe it a valuable discovery. Think every planter should provide himself with the Magic Arnica Liniment. No planter should be without your remedy where there is a tendency to disease prevails. I have supplied each of my plantations. My supervisors report favorable upon every trial.

Very respectfully, yours, etc.,

MEMPHIS APPEAL

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE DAILY APPEAL, MEMPHIS, July 18, 1868.

To-day like yesterday was very . ot—so much so as to interfere with business very materially, as it was deemed dangerous to life to expose oneself to the fierce rays which are pouring down upon us, and which are dealing death to man and beast in all the cities north of us, equal to an epidemic. Very few people are seen upon our streets during this heated term, and no improvement can possibly take place for the better until the heat becomes less troublesome.

A letter appeared in our issue of yesterday, from our regular New York correspondent, in which some comments were made relative to one of our National Banks. All the letters coming from this source heretofore have related almost exclusively to politics, and this one which was supposed to be of the same nature, was put into the hands of the printer without being seen by any of the editors We wish it understood that we do not indorse the opinion of our correspondent in reference to either one of our surviving National Banks, and feel that injustice was done by the writer of the article, though it was unintentional, we are satisfied.

Exchange is steady. The demand is light—barely equal to the offerings for some days back, and it is thought that, shipping currency will be resorted to at an early day. Eastern bills are taken at par to ¼ prem. and sold at ¼ prem. Checking on Louisville, Nashville, St. Louis and Cincinnati at ¼ prem. and on New Orleans at the same. Buying the latter at ¼ off to par.

The following are the New York Stock Exchange quotations: Coupons '81, 14¼; do '62, 14½; do '64, 11⅝; do '65, 12½; new issue, 9½; do '67, 9⅝; 10-40s, 8¼; 7-30s, 2d and 3d, 9½; Old Tennessees, 69½; new do 68¾. Government bonds steady.

In stocks and bonds there is very little doing. Memphis and Charleston stock shows very evident signs of weakness, an evidence that the late advance was not a healthy one, but just a little flyer gotten up by the friends of the new Directory, as was supposed at the time. We learn that 54c could not be realized for stock to-day, and that several lots were offered at that figure. City bonds are scarce and firm at 55@57c, as to amount. Other stocks are nominally as follows: Memphis Gas Company stock, $1 50. Mississippi Central Railroad, 1st mortgage bonds, 58c; 2d do. 40c. Mississippi and Tennessee, 1st mortgage bonds, 50c. Memphis and Louisville 1st mortgage bonds, 30@31c; 2d do. 20c. Memphis and Little Rock bonds, 40c.

City Scrip is in some demand at 70@73c, with a sale of $2000 reported as taking place yesterday evening to a broker at 72c. Small pieces would bring more. Selling at 74@75c in lots.

County Warrants are dull, with no demand. We quote at 50@52c buying. Selling at 54@55c.

Police Scrip is weak. Brokers buying at 7c and sell at 73@75c. One sale was made during the day by a broker at 71c.

Gold opened in New York to-day at 143¼ and closed at 143⅞, though it went up to 143¾ at noon.

The advance does not develop any large lots in this market, nor does it increase the demand to any extent. Brokers buy at 142@142½ and sell at 143@143½.

In Liverpool at the opening to-day cotton was heavy—Uplands 11d; Orleans 11¼d; and closed unchanged in all respects. Sales 8000 bales. Shipments from Bombay to the 14th inst, 17,000 bales.

The New York market at the opening was quiet but firm. Low Middlings 30½c; Middlings, 32c; Orleans, 32½c; Good Middlings, 33¼. The closing dispatch quoted the market quiet, but weak—Uplands 31½@32c. Other grades unchanged Week's receipts, 840 bales. Receipts at all United States ports for the week, 3200 bales.

Our market was quiet and quotations are nominal.

Hopkins did pay the sum of $5000 00.

And whereas, in order to secure and save harmless the said John Overton, Thomas Bibb, R. C. Brinkley and A. F. Hopkins, the drawers respectively of the aforesaid accommodation bills, and I secure also the said A. and J. Dennison & Co. on the note aforesaid, the said Arthur M. Hopkins did execute an indenture of Trust, dated the 8th day of February, 1861, by and in which he conveyed to Charles Kortrecht the premises situate in the county of Cook and State of Illinois, known and described as follows: "A certain piece or parcel of land lying and being near the city of Chicago, in the State of Illinois, and consisting of about ten acres, which was conveyed in fee simple by James W. Pryor, of the city of New York, to the said Arthur M. Hopkins, said conveyance being by deed now of record in Cook county, Illinois," which said land is more fully described as blocks three (3) and four (4) of James W. Pryor's subdivision of part of the northeast quarter of section four (4), township thirty-eight (38) north, range fourteen (14) east of the third principal meridian, according to survey and map of the same, as the same is filed for record in the proper office for the recording of surveys and maps in Cook county, Illinois, said subdivision being bounded on the south of Egan avenue and west of the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad, and said block three (3) and block four (4) contain, with the streets bounding on them, ten acres or thereabouts, being the land conveyed to said Arthur M. Hopkins by said James W. Pryor and Katherine M. Pryor, his wife, by their deed dated July 3, 1856, upon Trust; that in case a majority of the beneficiaries in said indenture or Trust mentioned should direct a sale of said premises, then the said Charles Kortrecht was thereby authorized and instructed to sell said premises at public auction, in the city of Memphis, State of Tennessee, after giving sixty days notice in one or more of the newspapers published in said city of Memphis, of the time and place of said sale, said sale to be made for cash or credit, as a majority of the beneficiaries in said Indenture of Trust named might direct, and out of the proceeds of said sale to pay said accommodation bills and the note aforesaid, and to pay the remainder, if any, over to said Arthur M. Hopkins, as will appear by reference to said Trust Deed, recorded in the Recorder's office of Cook county, Illinois, in Book 210 of Deeds, page 242.

And whereas, default has been made in the payment of said accommodation bills and note, and application has been been made and a sale of said premises, for cash, has been directed by a majority of said beneficiaries in said Indenture of Trust named, for the purpose of carrying out said Trust; now, therefore, public notice is hereby given, that I will, on
